

Doctor of Athletic Training

Watch your quality of care and patient outcomes soar to new heights

Moravian University's 60-credit Doctor of Athletic Training (DAT) program is intended for certified, licensed athletic trainers and focuses on the development of clinical experts. Through a combination of online and intensive hands-on learning with industry professionals, you'll gain advanced knowledge and skills to develop, analyze, and implement practical solutions in your practice and in your research.

Join a program that'll set you apart from the competition.

- The July Summer Institute brings students and world-class faculty together in Moravian University's industry-leading Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation Center for a week-long conference-style learning opportunity.
- Design your program with the curriculum that meets your needs with four relevant content areas offered.
- Add on an MBA degree with just six additional courses—a huge educational discount for DAT students and alumni.

"The faculty are flexible with your goals...whether that means taking a different course or switching up your schedule, that was most helpful to me because I could tailor the program to what I wanted to get out of it."

— Erin Roberge G'24
Full-time Assistant Athletic Trainer for the Green Bay Packers

At a Glance

Modality: Online with 2 weeklong residencies
Completion: 2 years
Flexible Start: Fall, Spring, or Summer
Features: Summer Institute; DAT-MBA second-degree offering

Apply Now!

moravian.edu/dat

Questions? Let's talk!

Call us at 610-861-1400 or email graduate@moravian.edu

MORAVIAN UNIVERSITY